He was at home because of illness and hastened to his father's side when he heard the struggle in the hall.

"I might have been shot and killed if the boy had not come to my assistance," said the chief. "Mother was too terrified to do anything. She was helpless as soon as she felt the revolver in the man's pocket."

One of the first places raided by the police after the shooting was the headquarters of a society known as "The Edelstadt Group," at 427 Union Street. Pictures of Herr Most and other anarchists were confiscated as were also a thousand hand bills announcing a series of meetings at which Emma Goldman was scheduled to speak. One of these meetings was announced for March 6th and the other for March 9th. A library a short distance away was also invaded by the police and several hundred volumes and pamphlets dealing with anarchism were secured.

Emma Goldman Lectures.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March, 2.—Emma Goldman, anarchist lecturer, arrived to-night from St. Louis, and hearing of the attack on Chief of Police Shippy, of Chicago, said in reply to questions whether or not she would lecture here, that she would not, but I would be willing to guarantee that the man was not an anarchist, but some fanatic or somebody with a private grudge against Shippy."

Miss Goldman lectured to-night in front of Mayor Blair's effort to prevent the meeting, the city attorney advising the Mayor that under the law, he could not interfere. In the lecture Miss Goldman repeated her statements concerning the Chicago shooting.

NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

Republicans Elect Delegates to District and State Conventions.
Squabble Over Contract.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 103 Hull Street.

The Republican City Convention was held in Leader Hall last night, harmony prevailing and delegates elected to both the district and the State conventions.

Previous to the session meetings were held in the several wards and the following delegates were chosen: First Ward, David S. Maddox and S. B. Wyatt; Second Ward, Ed Gallagher and T. H. Smith; Third Ward, H. H. Hatcher and W. H. Howie; Fourth Ward, Charles J. Yardley and J. H. Reynolds.

Manner Made Chairman.
As soon as the convention had been called to order Chairman Smith appointed a committee on credentials, which passed for the delegates. Mr. Smith then thanked the members of the party who had stood by him since he had been chairman and asked that he be relieved of the duties.

Mr. Howie took the chair temporarily, and Mr. Smith placed in nomination for the position of chairman of the City Republican Committee. He was elected unanimously.

The next business in order was the election of delegates to the district convention, which meets here on the 10th in Leader Hall. The delegates to the State convention in Lynchburg. The names of T. H. Smith and E. B. Howie were placed in nomination, and they were unanimously elected delegates to both conventions.

On suggestion of Mr. Smith the delegates then considered the matter of organizing a Republican Club in the city and after some discussion a committee was appointed to take the necessary steps. Five members appointed from each ward. A colored club will also be organized.

Of the thirty or more persons in attendance at the convention, there were but two negroes.

Held Up Fry's Bid.
When the Cemetery Committee met last night bids for the erection of a tombstone at Maury Cemetery were opened. Mr. Frank Fry was the lowest bidder and it was thought that he would get the contract. When this situation developed, Mr. Moore, chairman of the committee, left the chair and spoke against the award on the grounds that Mr. Fry was closely connected in business with the police and the City Assembly. Mr. Lindsay, the contract finally went to H. H. Pickington, the next lowest bidder. The grand jury some months ago probed the case of Fry and Lindsay in connection with the creation of the storehouse at the clear water plant.

The Building and Lands Committee met last night in adjourned session and instructed the clerk to address a communication to Frank Brothers, who lease the site for the building, informing them that the building must be put into thorough repair before the expiration of the lease next October.

There is some doubt that this concern will remain here. Several manufacturers have already made application for the building.

At the meeting of the Ordinance Committee the ordinance providing for two additional policemen was discussed, and then laid over until the next meeting.

In Police Circle.
Three white boys, two from Swansboro and one from Manchester—Potter, Scott, Patrick O'Connell and Paul Heath—have been arrested on the charge of stealing brasses from the Southern Railway. They will be heard in court.

The rule for old people is one Cascaret daily. The bowels, like other muscles, grow less active with age. They need help.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. And most of them need them daily. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels.

The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at sixty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day.

What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. And there is no matter of choice here. The only such tonic is Cascarets.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure to get the genuine, with CCC on every tablet. The price is 50 cents, 25 cents and 10 Cents per Box.

If you're fishing for a good water-proof coat better drop a line to us, or better still, drop in and pull one out. $15.00 to $30.00. Only the good sort here.

Spring Hats are ready.
Dunlap—$5.00.
Heath—$5.00.
Berry—$1.50 to $4.00.

In the Oak Grove Magisterial Court on Friday.

Three white men were before the Mayor yesterday morning charged with fighting. They were fined $2.50 and costs each.

Alex. Angie was before the court on the charge of driving too fast. He was fined $5.00.

There was one drunk before the Mayor and he was made to pay the usual costs.

Personals and Briefs.
Workmen started yesterday to dismantle the old Central Methodist Episcopal Church on Ninth Street, just off Hull. Mr. E. Shield will erect four modern dwellings upon the lot.

HAVE PURPOSE IN PEONAGE STORES

Mr. Williams Declares They Are Used to Hurt South, and Mr. Smith Denounces Officials.

AGAINST RAILROAD BONDS
Michigan Senator Takes Strong Ground Against Such Securities for Emergency Issue.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 2.—A variety of subjects were considered by the House to-day. Early in the session a resolution was passed authorizing the Immigration Committee to investigate charges of peonage in certain States. In the course of the debate on the subject, Mr. C. W. Quinn, Florida, denounced Assistant Attorney-General Russell and Mrs. Mary Grace Quackenbush, special agent in connection with certain prosecutions in Florida, and referred sarcastically to Attorney-General Bonaparte.

Mr. Williams, of Mississippi, said the circulation abroad of stories regarding peonage had done harm to the South, and he desired an investigation by an independent body. In reply to a question by Mr. Mann, of Illinois, he said he believed the stories had been put out by the labor agents in New York in order to drive immigrants to other sections of the country. Mr. Humphreys, of Mississippi, supported the resolution. He charged that systematic campaign had been waged for the past twelve months through the press of the country "by those whose interest could best be served in that way" for the purpose of discouraging immigration to the South.

Mr. Williams followed a lively discussion over a bill to amend the act providing for the relief of the alien, convicted of felony. The measure was defeated.

Four hundred pensions and a few other private bills were passed, and the balance of the time was consumed in considering the most important appropriation bill, which is expected will be discussed for several days.

An important piece of legislation was offered by Mr. J. H. Thompson, of Iowa, through a bill imposing a tax of 60 cents per hundred shares of stock on the holders of the same.

At 5:06 P. M. the House adjourned.

Against Bond Feature.

BISHOP DUNCAN IS CALLED TO LAST REST

Beloved Methodist Minister Passes Away in Spartanburg After Long Illness.

FUNERAL ON WEDNESDAY
Dr. Kilgo, of North Carolina, to Deliver Sermon—Native Virginian.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
SPARTANBURG, S. C., March 2.—Bishop William Wallace Duncan is dead. The end came at 9:55 this morning at the family residence, on North Church Street, after a year of declining health and ten days of extreme illness, during the last three days of which his death was expected.

His death came as peacefully as sleep. About his bedside were the members of his family, who had been within call for days, as they knew the end was near.

To-night it is announced that the funeral service will take place Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Central Methodist Church, the sermon being delivered by Dr. John C. Kilgo, president of Trinity College, Durham, N. C. A lifelong friend of the bishop's, other ministers will take part in the service. Dr. Mark L. Carlisle, Rev. Marion Dargan and Rev. J. S. Truesdale.

Spartanburg is in sorrow over the bishop's passing, and all social gatherings have been postponed to-day and Wednesday have been postponed out of respect to the memory of the man so closely identified with the life of the city and so universally esteemed by the people among whom his life had been spent. That day has been carried sorrow throughout the Southern States is shown by the hundreds of messages of sympathy and affection received by his family during the day and night.

Bishop Duncan is survived by his wife and three children—T. C. Duncan, Dr. W. H. Warren Dargan and Mrs. A. G. Rembert, of this city, and a one brother—Darcy P. Duncan, of Columbia.

William Sketch of His Life.

William Wallace Duncan was born in 1833 at Randolph Macon College, Mecklenburg county, Virginia. Dec. 20, 1833, his father being a professor there. His father becoming one of the faculty of Wofford College at Spartanburg, S. C., the son graduated therein his first class in 1858. He was then admitted to the Virginia Conference, 1859, leaving, however, the pastorate to become a chaplain in the Confederate army. In 1875 he was called to the chair of Moral Science in the college from which he graduated, and at once took his place as leader of his church in the Carolinas. He was pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, being the first of four then chosen.

As a Man.

He was a man of deep convictions and had the courage necessary to fearlessly express his views. He was a man of high spiritual attainments, and was distinguished by a life of continual and arduous labors the highest type of Christian consecration. Genial, friendly and pleasant as he was everywhere, it was in his home life that he appeared most lovable. He was a devoted husband and father, and "was a deadly blast was blown" in the grey and served as chaplain in the Confederate ranks during the war, both in Virginia and South Carolina.

As a Preacher.

Elizabeth City, N. C., was his first appointment to preach. He was afterwards stationed in Leesburg, Danville, Norfolk and Petersburg. In all these posts he was successful and successful, preaching with increasing power. His sermons were systematic pastoral work. As a preacher he was practical and powerful, painstaking, patient and considerate of the welfare of his people. In the ten years that followed the Civil War he did a Methodist preacher's work in the pulpit and on the pastoral circuit, and was a constant ranger in the Peaks of Otter on the Blue Ridge to the surf-beaten shores of the Chesapeake. He dispensed the tricks of oratory, but even his eloquence was thoughtful. He strove to correct the evils in the hearts and lives of his hearers rather than please them with rhetorical productions.

As a College Professor.

In 1876 he was elected professor of Mental and Moral Philosophy in Wofford College, and held that position for eleven years. He was untiring in the labors required by these positions, succeeding in a remarkable degree both in the chair and as agent. He went about delivering masterly educational addresses, which were received everywhere, and which are still bearing fruit and will for generations to come. While thus serving, Emory College, A. G. Haygood, president, and Central College, Mo., E. R. Hendrix, president, honored themselves by conferring on him the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

As a Bishop.

The selection of Bishop Duncan by the conference gave great satisfaction. A news comment, printed at the time of his election as Bishop, says: "He may be counted as bearing with him the great regard of his brethren and the hope of his church. For twenty years he served his church as Bishop, visiting every part of the continent, over which the jurisdiction of his church extended. In the chair he was master of assemblies and wielded the gavel gracefully but firmly. He was a man of business, and the work of the conference ran smoothly under his guidance. He was easily the peer of his able colleagues in the episcopacy and his ceaseless labors have been of immeasurable benefit to the church of his choice and to Christianity."

Saunders, died February 11, 1908, at the home of her adopted daughter, Eva Hill Browning, in Madison, Va., and was buried by her husband at Culpeper, where she served her church as Bishop, visiting every part of the continent, over which the jurisdiction of his church extended.
